

ITS2103 : Networking Fundamentals

This course introduces students to the study of basic networking terminology, concepts, components (hardware) and basic network design. Investigation of functions required to operate computer communications networks will also be addressed.

Credits 4.0

Prerequisites

ITS1101: Foundations of Information Technology

Corequisites

None