

ITS2111 : Multimedia Web Development

This course will provide a basic understanding of the methods and techniques of developing a simple to moderately complex website. Using the current standard Web page languages, students will be instructed on creating and maintaining a website. The aid of Web Development software will be introduced in this course along with fundamental media creation.

Credits 4.0

Prerequisites

ITS1101: Foundations of Information Technology

Corequisites

None