

LGS4010 : Evidence

This course is designed to provide a thorough study of the rules of evidence. Emphasis will be placed on application of the rules in preparing and presenting evidence for trial. We will examine the role evidence plays in the legal system and the paralegals responsibility in finding, collecting, handling, labeling, and preparing evidence for litigation. Each assignment will be designed for coverage in a single class period; however, occasionally an assignment will require additional time. As class time and circumstances permit, support assignments of library materials may be given.

Credits 4.0

Prerequisites

LGS1001: The Legal Field: Law and Ethics

LGS2001: Civil Litigation

Corequisites

None