

MPA6520 : Legal Environment of Public Administration

This course focuses on the relationship between public administration and the law. Topics may include the role of public administrators in formulating law and policy through the rule-making process and administrative law, how case law is relevant to public organizations, managers, and the administration of governmental programs, and the liability of government in selected settings.

Credits 4.0

Prerequisites

MPA5001: Foundations of Public Administration

Corequisites

None